To the Independent Electors of the City of Sydney.

GENTLEMEN,—I beg to apprise you of my intention to offer myself as a candidate for the representation of this, my native City, in the first Elective Legislature of Australia.

In the present uncertain state of all measures relating to our Colonial politics, professions of political opinion must necessarily be to some extent vague and undefined.

We are but entering upon the scene, in which is to be displayed, those actions which shall stamp the character of public men, with the value rightly to be attached to them.

I will therefore at present limit myself to declaring, that my political opinions are guided by a profound veneration for the true principles of the British Constitution, a decided enmity to all intolerance, either in civil polity or religion, and an earnest wish to promote the present and future welfare of this country.

With these professions, Gentlemen, I solicit your suffrages, and should I be fortunate enough to obtain your confidence, I pledge myself to exert to the utmost my abilities in your service.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
M. C. O'CONNELL.
Sydney, December 20. 8492

To the Independent Electors of the City of Sydney.

GENTLEMEN,—Upwards of twenty years since, I obtained for this colony the repeal of certain destructive local duties on its principal exports at that time; the removal of some restrictions as to the use of the Crown Lands, which were incompatible with the prosperity of our grazing interests. I was also instrumental in procuring the adoption of other measures for the relief of our agriculture, at that time almost destroyed. Since that period, I have unremittingly laboured with other friends of the colony, in the establishment of means for affording a liberal education to our youth, on a scale commensurate to its growing requirements. I have afforded much of my time in various departments, in the management of our two principal national institutions for the relief of our decayed citizens, and for seventeen or eighteen years, more particularly for the last six or seven years, I have been unremitting in my exertions, in connexion with other friends of civil and religious liberty, and of good government, to obtain and to preserve to us, not only those free institutions of which we are already possessed, but that also which we are now about to enjoy.

So long a period of almost unremitting exertion in the public affairs of this colony, has at least afforded me the means of obtaining much information and practical experience. This has induced me to offer myself as a candidate at the ensuing election; and should I obtain the distinguished honour of being elected to represent this important City in the local legislature about, for the first time, to be established, I will at least pledge myself to endeavour to promote the best interests of the constituency which I shall have the honour to represent, and of the colonists generally, with unabated exertion. I have the honour to be,
Gentlemen,
Your most obedient servant,
8527 W. BLAND.

To the Independent Electors of the City of Sydney.

GENTLEMEN,—In compliance with the urgent solicitations of many of my friends, I hasten to announce to you my intention of coming forward, at the necessary juncture, as a candidate for the honour of representing your interests in the New Legislative Council; and when I shall have briefly unfolded to you my views and motives for so doing, I trust you will not hesitate to secure my election, by your votes.

My views are taken from the present formidable aspect of public affairs. My motive is, to the utmost stretch of my ability, to do you essential service.

Gentlemen, your City, in common with the rest of the Colony, has reached a critical position, and must rapidly retrograde if inefficiently represented in the forthcoming Council. It will be wise therefore of you to confide the duty of representing your interests to men of known judgment and sound principles; to men not of words but of deeds; not to "mere men of straw" but men of substance; in short to men who know your true interests, and who will honestly maintain them. Of this class of men I profess myself to be—and on my ability to convince you of my possession of those indispensable qualifications it is, that I ground my claims to your confidence and support, as well as my own hope of promoting your political welfare: for although the new Act of Parliament certainly goes far from conferring that extent of popular representation which the present critical circumstances of the Colony so imperatively demand; yet in efficient hands, with independent energetic elective members, it may, to my thinking, be rendered an instrument of much general good.

Gentlemen, I have now dwelt among you nearly thirty years, during which I believe you will all acknowledge that I have spared neither exertions nor capital to advance the public interest at the same time with my own, in promoting the useful arts, trade, and manufactures of your City. I have no private interests to gratify that are not identified with yours. I have no public interests to serve but yours. I am neither a place holder nor a place hunter. I want not any Court favours. I profess to be no wordy theorist, but a practical utilitarian. I profess no more than what I mean, but can be staunch to what I do profess.

If you feel, Gentlemen, that these are legitimate causes why I may reasonably claim your confidence, it only remains for me to ask of you to put me to the proof, by granting me your triumphant support at the approaching election; and in the event of your returning me as your representative in the first Legislative Assembly of the Colony—believe me, it shall be my most anxious endeavour to support, as far as my experience and ability can further the great ends I have in view, each measure that may be brought forward, no matter by what individual or party, having for its object the public good of the working classes, and the encouragement of colonial manufactures in particular. Be assured I shall be always found at my post, and on the alert to give my most unflinching and determined opposition to any attempts that may be made, from sinister motives or otherwise, to stifle or counteract such measures; convinced, as I am, that on them will depend the vitality of the colony.

I shall do myself the honour of canvassing you all, personally, and in the mean time remain, Gentlemen,
Your most obedient servant,
ROBERT COOPER, Senior.

NOW READY.

THE AUSTRALIAN DIARY and ALMANAC, or Daily Memorandum Book for the Year 1843.
WILLIAM MOFFITT,
8971 Pitt-street.

To the Independent Electors of the City of Sydney.

GENTLEMEN,—I beg to announce to you that it is my intention to offer myself as a candidate for the honour of representing your City in the first Session of the new Legislative Council. After having laboured among you for the last eighteen years, in concert with other friends of freedom, to obtain those constitutional privileges, which are the rightful inheritance of Britons and their descendants, in whatever quarter of the empire they may reside, I trust,—now that the parent Legislature has at length conceded to us a portion of our birthright, that I may be permitted to found my claim to your support, on the part I have taken in procuring this important concession—tardy—as it has been, and imperfect and unsatisfactory—as it still is.

My public principles have been so often before the public, in the course of the long and arduous struggle, which has led to this approaching change in our form of government, that I do not consider it necessary to trouble you with a recapitulation of them now:—feeling confident, that my veneration for civil and religious liberty, and for all the free and expansive elements of our happy constitution, will not be doubted by any one, who is acquainted with my public career.

Should it be your pleasure to elect me to the distinguished honour of being one of your first representatives, I pledge myself to deal with all measures, that may be propounded to the Council, according only to my deliberate views of their probable tendency, come from what quarter they may: giving to whatever I may deem beneficial to the general weal, my cordial support; and to whatever I may judge detrimental, my strenuous opposition.

A son of the soil myself, it must be almost needless to add, that my whole interests, feelings, and prejudices, are identified with the prosperity of my country—a prosperity which, I know, can only be insured by free institutions and equal laws. To revive and re-establish that prosperity on lasting foundations is evidently the first want of the Colony, and will be the first duty of its new Legislature.

After having devoted the best energies of my life to promote the interests of my country, I trust it will not be deemed presumptuous in me to anticipate, that few will be found in its Councils more competent to assist in extricating it from its difficulties; still fewer—with more experience, purer intentions, or greater zeal.

I have the honour to be,
Gentlemen,
Your most obedient humble servant,
W. C. WENTWORTH.
Vaucluse, December 19. 8390

To the Independent Electors of the City of Sydney.

GENTLEMEN,—At the solicitation of many of my friends, and under the impression that your interests would be beneficially affected by having one of your representatives chosen from the City Council, I do myself the honour of announcing my intention of starting as a candidate for a seat in the Legislative Assembly.

It has come to my knowledge that it is more than probable you will be represented by three, if not by four members; and I labour under less restraint, in consequence, in soliciting from you fresh honours in addition to those with which you have already distinguished me, as my return would not, under such circumstances, deprive you of the talented services of several of the candidates already in the field, and in whom many of you have already declared yourselves to repose so much confidence.

Holding in the deepest veneration the grand principles of the British Constitution, and those of civil and religious freedom, I shall not permit party feelings to actuate me in the discharge of the duties arising out of the position in which I am so desirous your suffrages should place me. I shall go into the Council more particularly as the Representative of a Commercial Community, pledged to watch over the laws regulating its trade and commerce, and to forward to the utmost of my power its interests, and the interests of the Colony at large, and as some token of my sincerity in making this declaration, I beg that I may be allowed to advance the character I have hitherto borne, as well as the large stake I possess in the colony, and the anxious interest I have ever evinced in its prosperity and well being.

The demands of the colony for legislative enactments calculated to advance her interests and alleviate her burdens, must occupy the fullest attention of the new Assembly, and will require the careful study and consideration of its Members: but upon these, as upon other questions embracing more particularly points of commercial or of agricultural importance, it would be premature, at this early stage, to advance an opinion. I allude to the subject merely as it affords me the opportunity of confessing my sense of the difficulties that, in the first dawn of our participation in the glorious and honored rights of our forefathers, your representatives must be prepared to meet and to overcome; and of reiterating my determination, if you will so permit me, of devoting my best energies to the accomplishment of this most desirable object.

I have the honor to be,
Gentlemen,
Your obedient and very humble servant,
JOHN HOSKING.
December 28, 1842. 8880

To the Independent Electors of the City of Sydney.

GENTLEMEN,—To prevent any misconception as to the position which I wish to occupy as a candidate for a seat in the Legislative Council, I beg to explain, that from a desire not to interfere with the claims of two gentlemen already in the field, it is in the event only of there being more than two members, that I shall do myself the honour of soliciting your suffrages at the election.

I have the honour to be,
Gentlemen,
Your obedient and very humble servant,
JOHN HOSKING.
Sydney, December 31. 44

To the Free Electors of the Districts of the Hawkesbury generally.

GENTLEMEN,—At the earnest solicitation of many of my friends and neighbours, I venture to come forward and offer myself as a candidate for the honour of representing your interests in the forthcoming Legislative Council.

My pretensions are of the most humble character: and I certainly should not have ventured to undertake a trust of so much magnitude, if I did not feel that by withholding I should be treating the good opinion of my friends with indifference, and I may say ingratitude.

A native of the colony, and well known to most of you, I feel it would be quite premature at present to make any professions of political opinions. Should I have the honour of meeting such support as ultimately to be returned as your representative, I shall rely upon the united support and advice of my constituents upon all matters of importance which may affect our districts, and the colony at large.

I feel, however, bound to tell you thus far: I am determined to go into the Council totally free, and unfettered to any party, but that of the welfare of my native country.

I shall feel it my bounden duty at all times to give my most strenuous support to all measures introduced, and which appear upon mature deliberation to be equitable, and have a tendency to support truth and justice, and for the general advancement of the interest of the districts, and the colony generally; and upon the other hand firmly to oppose all measures having an opposite tendency.

I shall take the earliest opportunity of waiting upon you personally; and, in the mean time, beg to subscribe myself,
Gentlemen,
Your faithful and devoted servant,
W. BOWMAN.

ADVERTISEMENT.

THE undersigned, having determined on reducing his present immense stock of Watches, Jewellery, Plated Goods, Cutlery, &c., intends from the first of January, 1843, and during the two ensuing months of February and March, to offer the whole of his valuable stock at a small advance on the manufacturers' prices, merely sufficient to cover the expenses of importation.

The stock of Jewellery is well known to be of a superior description, both as to quality and beauty of style and workmanship.

The Watches were nearly all made to order for the undersigned, by the best LONDON MAKERS, at a time when PRICE was a secondary consideration to QUALITY, and the greater part are decidedly superior to any ever imported into the Colony.

The advertiser begs particularly to call the attention of the public to this advantageous opportunity of purchasing the best description of Watches and Jewellery for cash, at prices less than the usual wholesale cost, the whole of this stock being direct from the British manufacturers, and made to order. As the advertiser is not selling off for the purpose of immediately retiring from business, but in order to reduce his present overgrown stock, accumulated in consequence of repeated consignments from England, and the dulness of trade, every watch will be accompanied by a guarantee, and properly regulated and kept in order a reasonable time without charge, and exchanged if not approved of, except in cases of accident.

Watches of every description repaired and regulated with accuracy and despatch.
W. C. HARVIE,
Watchmaker, next the Royal Hotel.
George-street, December 29. 8923

THE undersigned, retiring from business, begs to return thanks to the public, for the liberal patronage he has experienced as Bookseller and Stationer, in Sydney, for several years past, and to solicit a continuance of their support to Mr. Thomas Clarke, to whom he has disposed of his stock, and who will continue the business at the old establishment.
G. W. EVANS.
Lower George-street. December 31. 86

THE subscriber having purchased the Stock of Mr. Evans, Bookseller and Stationer, intends to carry on the business on the well-known premises, Lower George-street, and trusts by strict attention to merit the favour of the public, which he respectfully solicits.
T. CLARKE.
Lower George-street, January 2. 87

To Town and Country Storekeepers Families, Settlers, and Others.

THE Subscriber not having met with a purchaser of the entire stock-in-trade, has commenced SELLING OFF by hand the whole of his valuable and extensive stock of LINEN-DRAPERY, MERCERY, HOSIERY, FRENCH and CHINA GOODS, READY-MADE CLOTHING, SLOPS, &c. As the business will if possible be closed by the 1st January, an early attendance is requested, when such DECIDED BARGAINS will be offered, that a single visit will convince purchasers that this is not one of the many PUFFS daily put forth to gull the public, of "Bankrupts' Stocks"—"Clearing out"—"Selling off," &c., but a real and bona fide selling off, at the greatest sacrifice, to prevent a public auction, H. O. A. positively retiring from business, and about to quit the colony for Europe.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

Four Acts relating to the Australian Colonies were passed in the last Session of Parliament, viz.:—"An Act for the Government of New South Wales and Van Diemen's Land;" "An Act for regulating the Sale of Waste Lands belonging to the Crown in the Australian Colonies;" "An Act to provide for the better Government of South Australia;" and "An Act to provide for the Government of Western Australia." With the provisions of the first two named, our readers are well acquainted; the last merely provides for the continuance of the old Swan River Act, for two years, and we are now about to lay before our readers an abstract of the third.

The preamble recites the titles of former South Australian Acts, (4 and 5 William IV., c. 95, and 1 and 2 Victoria, c. 60,) which are there repealed, with a clause providing for the validity of all Acts done under them, except such as bind the revenue for the future. The fourth clause enacts, that no convicts shall be sent to South Australia. The fifth clause provides that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty to issue a commission, "to constitute within the said colony a Legislative Council, consisting of the Governor, and of seven other persons at the least, which Legislative Council shall be authorised to make laws for the peace, order, and good government of the said colony." The sixth clause enacts, "That it shall be lawful for Her Majesty, by any such commission or commissions, or instructions as aforesaid, to convene a General Assembly, to be elected by the freeholders and other inhabitants of the said colony, in such and the same manner as if this Act, and the said recited Acts, had not been passed, and to authorise the Governor for the time being of the said colony, with the advice and consent of the said General Assembly, and of a Legislative Council to be by Her Majesty for that purpose appointed, to make laws for the peace, order, and good government of the said colony; or it shall be lawful for Her Majesty, in manner aforesaid, to constitute a General Assembly for the purposes aforesaid, consisting of a single House of General Assembly alone, which one House of General Assembly shall be composed, in such proportions as to Her Majesty may seem meet, of members to be nominated by Her Majesty, and of other members to be elected by such freeholders or other inhabitants:" the qualification of voters and members is to be determined by Her Majesty, and the Governor is to have the power of initiating money votes. The seventh and eighth clauses authorise the Lords of the Treasury to pay interest, at the rate of three and a half per cent., upon bonds issued by the South Australian Commissioners, which amount to £85,000. The ninth clause recites "the insufficiency or failure of the means provided by the said before recited Acts for defraying the costs, charges, and expenses, of founding the said colony, and of providing for the Government thereof," and that it became necessary to pass an Act (4 and 5 Vic., c. 13,) empowering the Lords of the Treasury to advance the sum of £155,000 on account of the colony, and enacts that the said sum "shall be taken to have been granted in aid of the revenues of South Australia, and that all further claim for the re-payment thereof, or for interest thereon, shall be abandoned." The tenth clause authorises the Governor, with the consent of the Lords of the Treasury, to issue debentures, bearing five per cent. interest, in payment of "certain other debts and engagements which have been incurred and contracted in respect of the said colony." The eleventh clause provides for the reservation of a civil list; and the twelfth, that the Act shall be proclaimed within one month after the Governor receives it.

This is certainly one of the most curious Acts of Parliament that has come under our notice. We do not believe the statute book contains another providing for the establishment of three separate and distinct forms of Government for a colony, which is the case with the Act before us. The fifth clause provides for the establishment of a Legislative Council of seven members, similar to the one appointed by the first New South Wales Act—and, considering that the population of South Australia does not amount to more than fifteen thousand souls, that would appear to be a very eligible form of Government; but by the sixth clause Her Majesty is enabled to constitute what may be called a full form of Colonial Government, in accordance with the British Constitution: that is to say, a House of Assembly elected by the inhabitants, and a Legislative Council appointed by the Crown; and in case this should not be advisable, power is given to constitute a House of Assembly similar to the one which has been conferred upon this colony—an hermaphrodite institution, in which elected and appointed members are to sit together.

We all remember the triumphant course of the first South Australian Bill through Parliament, the assurances of its promoters of the sufficiency of the "self-supporting system," the confident prophecy that the brightness of South Australia would enlighten the southern hemisphere, and throw the "penal colonies" into the shade; a very short time, however, has shown the fallacy of their calculations. But the blindness, the wilful blindness of some of the Commissioners to the progress of events; was most extraordinary. So late as 1839, Mr. Hutt, one of the Commissioners, speaking in the House of Commons, said: "Lord John Russell says, that South Australia must not be quoted as a proof of the success of a self-supporting colony; it certainly is a colony which has never drawn upon the public purse to secure the happy state of things I have described: while more than forty colonies are dependent on British funds for the maintenance of their institutions, South Australia alone defrays all its own costs." At this very time Governor Gawler's bills were on their way home. Speaking in 1842, Lord John Russell says: "In 1839 the financial difficulties became extreme; it was found that the expenditure amounted in the last quarter to £34,000, and the average expenditure of the year was not less than £140,000, while the real bona fide revenue did not exceed £20,000;" and in June, 1841, the colony was in debt £402,067, or about £80 for each male adult. Yes, at the time that Mr. Hutt was assuring the House of Commons that South Australia was defraying its own costs, the expenditure was just seven times the amount of the revenue! We say that the triumphs and the prophecies attendant upon the first South Australian Act, must be remembered by all who then took any interest in Colonial affairs; but the Act of last session was allowed to pass with scarcely a remark from the Wakefield journals—the "insufficiency or failure" of the self-supporting system was so generally felt, that no voice was raised in its defence. It had failed; and the quacks who so long upheld the system, and abused all who differed from them, who, to raise the value of their own darling settlement, published the most glaring calumnies respecting the adjacent colonies, were silent. Was the ready pen of Colonel Torrens locked up in his official desk; had he nothing to say for South Australia, nothing to say against New South Wales; nothing in favour of the land of promise; nothing against the land of despair, as in one of the puff pamphlets New South Wales was termed! Alas, with his salary the gallant Whig lost his zeal for the cause! In South Australia, it is amusing to see the coolness with which the journalists who for years have been advocating the beauty of the self-supporting system, have at once become admirers of the proposal to convert their El Dorado into a Crown colony.

The main points on which South Australia differed from other colonies were, the special survey system, which has long been abolished, and the self-supporting system, which has now received the coup de grace; and we shall now see whether the natural resources of that colony are equal or superior to its neighbours—and we shall be happy to find it prospering in a degree to satisfy the most ardent of its admirers, although, while its numerous and powerfull body of supporters in England were exerting all their influence to disparage New South Wales, that they might promote the prosperity of South Australia, we must admit that we looked upon it with a jealous eye.

We cannot conclude this article without noticing the different treatment which this colony has received from Her Majesty's Government. Can it be for a moment contended that the claim of South Australia for pecuniary assistance, was equal to the claim of New South Wales for repayment of at least one-half of the money expended in supporting a police rendered necessary by the presence of British convicts? But New South Wales has no parliamentary influence, and South Australia has—and hence the different meed of justice which has been dealt out.

MAURITIUS.

We yesterday received, via Port Phillip, our files of Mauritius papers, which extend from about the middle of August to the latter end of October.

Our space will not allow us to give extracts to-day, but the following are, briefly, the principle topics dwelt upon in the papers.

The Act passed by the Legislative Council of Mauritius, providing for the Immigration of Coolies, is published in the papers of the 30th of August.

It will be remembered, that when we last received intelligence from Mauritius a project was on foot, in order to relieve the pecuniary embarrassments under which the colony was labouring, for the Government to advance from the Treasury a sum of money in specie, on the guarantee of the two banks. This project had been carried into effect, and the Mauricien, of the 29th of August, states that on the 27th of that month the money had actually been deposited in the banks from the Treasury; and the Cerneen, of a few days' later date, contains all the official documents connected with the loan, from which it appears that the sum lent by Government is to be issued to the public in one dollar notes, payable to bearer, in currency, on the 1st February, 1844. It was anticipated that the effect produced by this accommodation on the part of Government would be most beneficial.

On the 14th September, the Theatre at Mauritius was re-opened, and a few days afterwards a Theatre was opened at Bourbon, both with companies recently arrived from France.

On the 24th September, a proclamation was issued, from which it appears, that from the severe illness of the Third Judge of the Court of Appeal, the Honourable Edward Remono, and his consequent absence, it was necessary to appoint some one to his office; and further, that Edward Allen Williams, Esq., barrister, and Advocate General, was appointed thereto.

His Excellency Lieutenant-General Sir William Gomm, the new Governor, was hourly expected, intelligence of his departure from England in H. M. F. Cleopatra, 26, having been received.

The accounts of the sugar market are favourable, but immense injury accrued to the crops from the depredations of rats, which were becoming almost as numerous as in the earlier years of the settlement.

The laws relating to the manufacture and sale of spirits and other liquors, and regulating the duties and charges for licenses, particulars of which have been previously given, were declared in force, by proclamation, on the 19th of September.

We shall return to the papers to-morrow.

NEWS FROM INDIA.

By the Duchess of Kent, news from India to the 15th October has come to hand. From some despatches published in another part of the paper, it will be seen that Generals Pollock and Nott were rapidly advancing towards Cabul, and were thrashing the Affghans whenever they could get at them. In the mean time, the prisoners had been removed a considerable distance into the interior, and it was rumoured that a chief who was independent of Akhbar Khan had seized them, and that they would be given up when the British arrived at Cabul, which, it was expected, would be burnt down.

CITY COUNCIL.

Tuesday, January 3.

The business adjourned from Friday was resumed yesterday, at three o'clock, at the Royal Hotel. The Right Worshipful the Mayor and the whole of the Council, with the exception of Messrs. Holt, Taylor, and Pawley, being present.

The minutes of the proceedings at the last meeting were read by the Town Clerk.

WATER COMMITTEE.

The Mayor called upon the Chairman of the Water Committee to report progress.

Alderman Mitchell said, that he had reason to believe that on or before Friday the Committee would be placed in possession of the final Report of the City Surveyor, and at the first meeting after Friday the Committee would be ready to report on the whole matter.

WEIGHING MACHINE IN THE HAY MARKET.

Mr. Hunt brought forward his motion relative to the letter which had been forwarded to the Council by Mr. Dawson, preferring a claim on account of the weighing machine now in the market, and offering to put up a new one. He would merely move that tenders be invited for putting up a machine such as was required, under the superintendence and direction of the City Surveyor.

Mr. Foss seconded the proposal.

Mr. Hollinshed thought, that a weighing-machine was altogether unnecessary. He had observed that when parties were desirous of weighing hay or anything else which they purchased, they usually preferred weighing it themselves with steelyards, or by some other means of their own, to going to the weighing machine, and if parties were compelled to have their purchases weighed at the machine, he thought considerable dissatisfaction would be created. At all events, there were matters of far greater importance pending before the Council now, and he thought it would be better to defer the consideration of the weighing machine to some future opportunity.

Mr. Alderman Mitchell said, he thought it most desirable to procure a weighing machine as early as possible. It would do no harm whatever to get tenders at all events; the Council would then be aware of the expense; he would suggest that one condition of the tender should be, that the party supplying the machine should keep it in order for a limited time.

Mr. Neale thought, that there were matters of greater import to be discussed now, if a machine were wanted at all; from what he had seen during several years that he had resided near the Hay Market, he thought people generally bought in the lump what they supposed to be on a dray, and not by exact weight.

Mr. Hill thought that a weighing machine was very much required in the Hay Market; but unless the Council had the power of compelling parties to come to it to have the produce weighed, he feared it would be of little use. If the Council could enforce its use, no time should be lost in getting a machine.

Mr. Macdermott remarked, that the Council would undoubtedly have the power of compelling parties to pay the dues, whether they weighed their produce or not.

Mr. Chapman said, that as all parties were anxious to save time, it would be better that the Mayor should at once put the question to the Council.

The question was accordingly put to the meeting, and was carried.

CITY AND DISTRICT SURVEYORS.

Mr. Holden brought forward the motion of which he had given notice, for defining the duties of the District Surveyor. The object he had in view was, to prevent any clashing between the two gentlemen who held the offices, in the performance of the duties required of them by the Council. From the information he had been able to gain on the subject, he had come to the conclusion that the duties of the District Surveyor should be confined to those pointed out by the provisions of the Building and Alignment Acts; and he did not think the Council could do better than adopt this opinion, as, from a perusal of the acts in question, it would, he thought, be found that in the duties so apportioned to him, the District Surveyor would find enough to do. If hereafter it was found that these were not enough, then further duties might be assigned to him. He would not detain the Council longer, but move, that the duties of the District Surveyor be such as pointed out by the provisions of the Building and Alignment Acts.

Mr. Peacock seconded the motion.

Mr. Egan suggested, that Mr. Holden should add to his motion, that the District Surveyor should also give advice and assistance to the Committees of Council when required to do so by them.

Mr. Holden said, he would have added this, but that he thought it unnecessary, as, even if the Council had not a right to expect it, no officer employed by the Council would be discourteous enough to decline giving information on any subject that the Council, or a Committee of the Council, might require. If the Council thought that the addition was necessary, however, he had no objection to it.

Alderman Mitchell moved an amendment, to the effect that the duties of the District Surveyor should include those pointed out in the Building Act and in the Alignment Act, and also in the Police Act, with the exception of those which related to the blasting of rocks and the opening of drains, which would belong more properly to the City Surveyor's department; and he believed he might say that this arrangement would meet the views of Mr. Buchanan on the subject.

Mr. Flood said, that before the resolution or the amendment was put, he wished to observe, that whatever the duties of the District Surveyor and the City Surveyor might be defined to be, he hoped that the Town Clerk would be instructed to point out to those officers the real state of the law upon the subject. At present there was very great uncertainty as to what the law was, and in order to protect the Council, who would be responsible for the acts of their officers, as well as to protect the citizens at large, it was highly necessary that the officers should be fully acquainted with what the law really was.

Mr. Macdermott said, he should be glad to hear the opinions of Alderman Owen and Alderman Allen on the matter.

Alderman Allen said, that he did not come there to give professional opinions, he came there as one of the Council; the Town Clerk was the legal adviser of the Council.

Mr. Macdermott said, he had not asked Alderman Allen for a legal opinion; he valued his own legal opinion as highly as Mr. Allen's, and if he wanted a legal opinion he would go to his office with his 6s. 8d. in his hand, and he supposed he would get it. He asked the opinions of Alderman Allen and Alderman Owen as members of the Council, but as members more conversant with the subject before the Council than others, and therefore able to assist them. To return to the subject before the Council, however, he was of opinion that it would be wasting time now to talk of fixing or defining the duties of the District Surveyor; those duties would be defined by the by-laws of the Council, which by-laws ought to have been considerably advanced before this, but which would not be in existence on this day twelve-months unless they did more than had yet been done towards their formation. Until the by-laws were made, the Council would go on wasting time, as it had done hitherto; as yet, nothing had been done, and until by-laws were made, nothing would or could be done.

Mr. Hollinshed seconded the amendment proposed by Alderman Mitchell.

The amendment was put and carried, and the original motion by Mr. Holden consequently fell to the ground.

CITY SURVEYOR'S SURETIES.

Mr. Foss inquired, if the City Surveyor had as yet provided his sureties for the approval of the Council. The time for doing so had expired yesterday, and nothing relative to them had as yet been brought under the notice of the Council.

Alderman Mitchell stated, that he had had a communication with the City Surveyor, who informed him that Sir Thomas Mitchell, who had at first consented to be one of his sureties, had since thought that on account of the official position which he occupied, it would perhaps be better that he should not do so; and, therefore, Mr. Aird had been somewhat put out of his way; Mr. Hume had, however, offered to become one of the sureties, and another would be found within three days.

The Mayor said, that he had had a communication with Mr. Hume, who had told him that he would become one of the sureties, and as the City Surveyor was not now receiving any fees, there was no necessity to press him under existing circumstances.

LABOUR—CONVICT OR FREE.

Mr. Holden said, there was another motion on the paper, in his name, but as the subject of it was now occupying public attention out of doors, and as he believed many were opposed to it, he was anxious to postpone it for the present, if the Council would allow him to do so, more especially as a public meeting of the citizens was to be held on Friday, to take the matter into consideration. Before going any further with the matter, he was desirous of hearing the arguments and facts which might be brought forward at that meeting, and they might be such as to induce him to withdraw his motion altogether.

Mr. Macdermott objected to any postponement; it would not do to have this motion hanging in terrorem over the City Council like Mr. James Macarthur's notices of motion in the Legislative Council, postponed from week to week, and from month to month. This was the second time; once before, the motion was on the paper for two or three weeks, and then Mr. Holden withdrew it; now again he wished to postpone it; when brought on again, he (Mr. Macdermott) might not be here; others who came also prepared to vote, one way or other, might be prevented from attending. There was no sufficient reason before the Council to allow a postponement; there was no petition from the citizens to postpone it, Mr. Holden spoke of a noise out of doors, of some excitement amongst the citizens, of a meeting that was to take place; but what had the Council to do with what was going on out of doors? But for Mr. Holden no notice of it might have reached the Council, and he considered that it would be highly improper to keep the Council in suspense on the matter week after week.

Mr. Holden said, he would appeal to the Council whether he had not given a fair reason why he wished for the indulgence he asked. His object was not to delay, and he was not one of those who would bring forward a resolution or a motion with a determination obstinately to adhere to it in spite of argument and proof that the course he adopted was injudicious. He had no intention either of occupying the Council with a long speech; although aware that some gentlemen might have prepared to give the Council a treat for some hours. He knew that a portion of the citizens, at all events, were opposed to the course he recommended; they had called a public meeting to take the subject into consideration, and he was anxious to profit by all the information which might be acquired from the proceedings at that meeting—information which, however little he was prepared for or inclined to such a step now, might induce him to withdraw the motion altogether. At present, he should not stultify himself by withdrawing it without having heard a single reason for doing so, or argument against it.

Mr. Foss thought the motion had better be proceeded with; the Council had doubtless come prepared to vote upon and decide the question one way or the other.

Mr. Chapman agreed with Mr. Macdermott and Mr. Foss; he had come prepared to vote against the motion; he had attended the Council before with the intention of doing so, and it might be inconvenient to attend when it was brought on again.

Alderman Wilshire said, he thought it was high time the matter should be disposed of; and he would state as one reason, that this day, as he was driving through the streets in his gig, a mechanic called out after him, and told him to beware how he voted on the motion this day.

Mr. Hill said, that as a friend he would recommend Mr. Holden to withdraw the motion, seeing the opposition which it had excited. His reasons, however, were far different from that advanced by Mr. Wilshire; he should not be frightened into abandoning any course which he thought right, though fifty thousand mechanics shouted at him instead of one; from all the circumstances of the case, however, he would recommend Mr. Holden to withdraw the motion.

Alderman Mitchell said, he had come prepared to support the motion, and he should recommend Mr. Holden to go on with it.

Mr. Macdermott said, if Mr. Holden did not go on with it, he should propose to strike it off the paper.

Mr. Flood said, that he had called upon Mr. Holden, and had requested him to withdraw the motion. He had done so, because he found, while canvassing for Mr. Wentworth and Dr. Bland in Phillip Ward, that the great majority of his constituents in that ward were opposed to the motion; and he thought that their constituents should be listened to in every legitimate manner; although he would not (as Mr. Wilshire would appear to be) be alarmed at anything which might be said by one or by any number of the people, or be frightened from doing that which he thought was right.

Mr. Little said, he was delighted to see that Mr. Flood joined in supporting those who were desirous of seeing the motion withdrawn.

Mr. Peacock thought, that the request made by Mr. Holden was a most reasonable one, and he certainly should maintain that Mr. Holden was entitled to be allowed to postpone his motion until after the public meeting, which was announced, had been held.

Alderman Owen said, he supposed that the question was now confined to the point, whether Mr. Holden should be allowed to postpone his motion or not. For himself, although not prepared to vote either one way or the other, he must say he should be glad to see the motion postponed, and not withdrawn. He should be sorry that, on account of the abandonment of this motion, an impression should go abroad that the labour market here was overstocked. He should be glad to hear the question fully discussed; he was convinced that there was a great deficiency of labour in the colony, although there might not be in the city. The city and the country districts were intimately connected, and if all the free labour were monopolized in the city, it would be draining the country districts to the injury of all.

Alderman Allen said, that in order to bring the question to an issue, he would move that Mr. Holden's motion stand postponed to the first day of meeting of the Council after Friday next.

Alderman Owen seconded the motion.

Mr. Macdermott said he would move, as an amendment, that the motion be struck off the paper, or proceeded with at once.

Mr. Hunt said, that if reasons were wanting why the Council should proceed at once with the motion, he would remind them that while this question was hanging over the Council they could not enter into any contracts in which labour would be concerned. It had been observed before, when contracts were spoken of, that it was an attempt to get rid of the question of convict or free labour by a side wind.

Mr. Hunt was here called to order.

Mr. Hollinshed said, that without travelling out of the question, he might state in reply to Mr. Hunt, that it was not probable that the Council would be called upon to enter into contracts for some few days for quarrying and breaking stones at Pennant Hills, and this was all that it was proposed to do with the convict labour; he doubted much whether free men would be inclined to come to this colony to break stones; most of them, however, though they were reduced, thought themselves above such work.

Mr. Macdermott's amendment was put to the Council.

There were eight votes for and eight against it, some of the Council declining to vote.

The Mayor gave his vote against it, and it was lost.

Mr. Allen's motion in favour of a postponement of Mr. Holden's motion was then put, and carried by a majority of several hands.

VALUATORS.

The Mayor called upon the Committee appointed at the last meeting of the Council to give in the names of the parties recommended as assistants in the valuation and assessment of city property.

The following parties were appointed—for Cook Ward—Mr. John Martyn and Mr. Thomas Hawkins.

Macquarie Ward—Mr. P. J. Kelly and Mr. James Waugh.

Brisbane Ward—Mr. Conolly and Mr. Plunkett.

Gipps Ward—Mr. M. Evans and Mr. P. Gray.

Phillip Ward—Mr. Hillyard and Mr. F. Lowe.

Bourke Ward—Mr. Blackett and Mr. Peck.

CLEANSING THE CITY.

Mr. Foss brought forward the motion, of which he had given notice, to invite tenders for cleansing the streets and lanes of the city.

Alderman Allen seconded the motion, which was carried without opposition.

TENDERS FOR PRINTING.

The Council went into closed Committee, to consider tenders for the printing required by the Council.

The result was, that a Committee was appointed.

After the Council was re-opened, Mr. Foss enquired when the apartments taken for the Council in York-street would be ready for them?

Alderman Wilshire and Mr. Flood informed the Council that the Committees would be able to meet in the house in York-street after to-morrow, but that the Council would scarcely be able to assemble in their hall until after next week.

Mr. Neale mentioned, that one of the water-pipes, at the corner of Kent and Liverpool-streets, had burst, and that a great waste of water was the consequence; means should be taken to repair the injury.

The Town Clerk was instructed to communicate with the City Surveyor on the subject.

Alderman Broughton inquired if there were any fees derivable from the Market Wharf? If there were, there had not been any one appointed to receive them.

It was replied, that there was no revenue derivable, nor had been for many years.

Mr. Egan informed the Mayor and Council, that the Harbour-master, Mr. Watson, had informed him, that the man in charge of the waterpipes at Soldier's Point had refused to submit to any control, and had supplied water to ships, and had taken money; whereas formerly the money was paid to the Harbour-master when the vessel sailed, and he afterwards accounted for it.

The Town Clerk was directed to communicate with the man, as the Council had not intended that there should be any charge whatever.

Mr. Macdermott said, there was one question which the Council never thought of considering: that was, what, at the termination of their sitting, they had done. He could not see that they were any more forward now than they were when they commenced.

The Mayor observed, that they had disposed of all the business before them. He intended on the next occasion to bring under their notice the subjects of Police and Markets, and also the appointment of a By-law Committee.

The Council separated, to meet again on Thursday, to take into consideration the Report of the Police Committee and other important matters requiring immediate attention.

One Hundred Pounds Reward and a Free Pardon.—It having been represented to the Government that the barn and stacks of Mr. Faithfull, at Mount Pleasant, near Richmond, were totally destroyed by fire, on the night of Monday, the 26th ultimo, and that there is reason to suppose that they were wilfully set on fire by some person or persons unknown; His Excellency the Governor has directed it to be notified, that with a view to the guilty parties being brought to justice, a recommendation will be made to Her Majesty for the allowance of a Free Pardon to any prisoner of the Crown who may give such information as shall lead to the conviction of the offenders, and Mr. W. Faithfull, who has good reason for believing the same to be the work of an incendiary, (in consequence of his having recently prosecuted, to conviction, a band of notorious robbers), has offered a reward of £100 for such information as will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who committed the above offence.

Seizure of an Illicit Still.—Yesterday morning, in consequence of information, the Chief Constable proceeded to Botany, in the vicinity of Mr. Lord's property, where he succeeded in seizing a still of about four feet in height and between five and six feet in diameter. He also secured all the other appendages, viz., head, worm, &c., together with nine casks, containing about one thousand gallons of wash, which would have been ready to run off in a couple of days. The premises appeared to have been fitted up at considerable expense, and for the express purpose of distilling, as there is a malt house, a still room, as well as a wort room, wash tubs, &c. One person was found on the premises, but it is rumoured that the real owners reside in Sydney. After having placed the premises and property seized under proper surveillance, Mr. Mitchell returned to Sydney, and afterwards accompanied Captain Browne and Mr. Miles to view the seizure. On their return they brought the still with them, and lodged it in the Police-office.

Convicts' Letters.—By almost every ship which arrives from England there are letters for convicts from friends in England. Some of them are probably of little value to the convicts, or any one else, but on the other hand many are of importance, not only to convicts, but to their friends at home, and the means of delivering them are altogether inadequate. We would suggest that the Government Printer should be instructed to strike off a number of lists of these letters, sufficient to distribute to the police offices throughout the colony, in order that prisoners might have an opportunity of learning that there are letters for them; all these letters, be it remembered, having been pre-paid in England, as well as those which are advertised as unclaimed at the Post Office once a month. Some of the addresses on these letters are whimsical enough; one lately arrived, is to the care of the "Guvverner of new-Sought Whales or elsewhere."

Pilfering.—Late on Monday evening some pilferers entered the back premises of the cottage on the Chippendale estate, belonging to Mr. Cowper, clerk at the Police Office, and walked off with a quantity of linen, clothing, &c., and also some cooking utensils, a reward, equal in amount to the value of the property stolen, is offered for the apprehension of the thieves.

Rifle Match.—A rifle match took place on Monday afternoon, at the Red House; the prize was a valuable rifle, and there were about twenty competitors. The distance was one hundred yards, the usual mark, a target. After some very excellent shooting the prize was awarded to a young man named Broughton. The shooters and their friends adjourned to Mr. Bibb's, where an excellent dinner was provided for them. Measures are being taken for the permanent establishment of a rifle club, the particulars of which will shortly be brought before the public.

Female Factory.—State of the Female Factory, on the 1st of January, 1843:—Under colonial sentence, 44; not under colonial sentence, 693; in solitary confinement, 4; in hospital, 32; confined by order of the matron, 7. Total number of women, 780. Total number of children, 192.

INDIAN EXTRACTS.

IMPORTANT VICTORIES.

Head Quarters, Simla, 21st Sept., 1842.
POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

... Governor-General has this day received the reports of three victories obtained, on the 30th of August, by Major-General Nott, over twelve thousand Affghans, 38 miles ...th west of Ghuznee; on the 8th of September, by Major-General Pollock, over the ...ps of Mahomed Akbar Khan, and the ...lzie Chiefs at Jugdulluck; and on the ...h of June, by the expedition on the coast ... China within the mouth of the river Yang-...-Kiang at the city of Woosung.

In this last operation, and those immediately preceding it, Vice Admiral Sir W. Parker, and Lieut. General Sir Hugh Gough ...k 364 guns from the Chinese.

On the 3rd of September, Major-General Nott had advanced to Nanee, a short march ... Ghuzni.

On the 9th of September, Major-General Pollock had advanced to Kutta Sung, and ...d experienced no opposition.

Formed as the troops under Major-General Nott have mostly been by four years of constant service, and habituated as they have been to victory under their able commander, the Governor-General had anticipated their success against any force which could be brought against them. It is to the Governor-General a subject of sincere satisfaction, that the events of the campaign should have opened a more extensive field to that brave army on which it may make manifest to the world the high qualities he has long known it to possess.

Major-General Pollock has, through the prudence of his arrangements, and the correctness of the movements directed by him, had the gratification of affording to his troops the opportunity of proving their superiority to the Affghans on the very scene of the last disaster on the retreat from Cabul; and Major-General Sir R. Sale, at the head of the garrison of Jellalabad, worthily supported by the reinforcements from India, has had the glory of leading the army on its triumphant return to the capital of Affghanistan.

The Governor-General regards with the highest admiration the noble ardour which has, in these several operations, been manifested, equally by the officers and soldiers of both nations, and of all arms. He sees, in the successes already obtained, the certain promise of other more decisive victories calculated to impress upon all the enemies of the British Government a conviction of the futility of resistance to the forces under his direction, and tending, under the continued favour of Providence, to effect the first object of his desire, the restoration of peace to Asia.

By order of the Right Honourable the Governor-General of India.

T. H. MADDOCK,
Secretary to the Government of India,
With the Governor-General.

(Copies.)

Copy of a letter from Major-General Pollock, C.B., commanding in Affghanistan, to T. H. Maddock, Esq., Secretary to General Pollock's Department.

No. 236 of 1842.

Dated Camp Kutta Sung, September 9, 1842.

Sir,—I have the honour to forward, for the information of the Right Honorable the Governor-General, copy of a letter which I have this day addressed to the Adjutant-General of the Army, detailing the operations against the enemy near Jugdulluck yesterday.

I have, &c.,
GEORGE POLLOCK,
Major-General, Commanding in Affghanistan.

Copy of a letter from Major-General G. Pollock, C.B., commanding troops in Affghanistan, to Major-General Lumley, Major-General of the army.

Dated Camp Kutta Sung, Sept. 9, 1842.

Sir,—I have the honour to report, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that I left Soork-ab on the morning of the 8th instant, in progress to Jugdulluck, with the following troops:—1st Division under the command of Major-General Sir R. Sale, G.C.B., 2 guns 3rd troop 1st Brigade H.A., 6 ditto No. 6 light field battery, ditto Mountain Train, Her Majesty's 3rd Light Dragoons, 1 squadron 1st Light Cavalry, Ressallahs 3rd Irregular Cavalry, Her Majesty's 9th Foot, Her Majesty's 13th Light Infantry, 26th Regt. Native Infantry, 35th Regt. Light Infantry, 5th Company Sappers, Broadfoot's Sappers, Mackeson's Bildars.

On approaching the hills which command the road through the pass, I perceived their summits were occupied by a considerable number of men, and a nearer view enabled me to ascertain the nature of their position, which was one of singular strength and difficulty of approach. The enemy were assembled in bodies apparently under different chieftains, each having a distinguishing standard.

The hills they occupied formed an amphitheatre inclining towards the left of the road in which the troops were halted while the guns opened, and the enemy were thus enabled on this point to fire into the column, a deep ravine preventing any contact with them. The practice of the guns was excellent, yet the enemy appeared so determined ... making a stand that the bursting of the shells among them on the right hill, which ... of a conical shape and difficult ascent, ...d not the e... of making them relinquish ... or of slackening their ... which now be...me heavy from all parts of their pos... ...using several casualties.

It is with the deepest feeling of regret I ...ve to deplore the loss of Captain Nugent, ...iciating Sub-Assistant Commissary General, ...o was shot here and died almost immediately. I had lately received the most im...rtant and valuable assistance from him; ...e service has lost a promising officer, and ...e department to which he belonged a most ...ficient member.

As the guns appeared to have little effect in ...cing the enemy to quit the heights, I resolved upon attacking them; for this purpose Captain Broadfoot was detached to the extreme left of the enemy's position, and his sappers commenced ascending a steep hill, on the top of which the enemy were entrenched in a sungah. Her Majesty's 9th foot, under Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor, were directed to cross a deep ravine and assault the hills on the opposite side, where the enemy held a ...ined fort, and were with their Chiefs and cavalry in considerable numbers. Her Majesty's 13th light infantry, led by Captain Wilkinson, commanding the regiment, attacked the hill which may be considered the key of the position. The 9th, accompanied by two companies of the 35th N. I., under Lieuts. Boileau and Trench; the 13th by 130 men of the 26th, led by Captain Gahan, (Major Huish, who although present in the field, was prevented, by his wound received at Mamoo Kheil from assuming the command) rushed up the heights simultaneously, and the animated and enthusiastic cheer they gave seemed to strike a panic in the enemy, for they dared not wait the collision, but fled down the hills, and were enabled to escape c... chastisement by the nature of the ground, which was ... well calculated to favour their retreat. At this mo...ent Major Lockwood, with Her Majesty's 3rd light dragoons, galloped up, and very nearly succeeded in ...cepting the enemy's cavalry, but I am very sorry to say they also effected their safety by flight.

Captain Broadfoot had completely succeeded in the attack he made, and the enemy were dispersed in every direction, a large body of them retiring to the summit of a high mountain. On this apparently inaccessible height they planted their standards, and showed every demonstration of maintaining .... As the achievements of the day would have been incomplete were they suffered to remain, I decided upon dislodging them. The troops named in the margin (H. M.'s 13th Light Infantry, one company 26th Native Infantry, one ditto 35th Light Infantry, 5th Company Sappers, under Lieutenant Becher, Broadfoot's Sappers,) advanced under cover of Captain Abbott's guns, and those of Captain Backhouse's Mountain Train. Seldom have soldiers had a more arduous task to perform, and never was an undertaking of the kind surpassed in execution; these forty heights were assaulted in two columns, led by Captains Wilkinson and Broadfoot, the discomfited Ghilzies, not relishing an encounter, betook themselves to flight, carrying away their standards, and leaving our troops in quiet possession of their last and least assailable stronghold.

It gratifies me to be enabled to state, that we have thus signally defeated with one division of the troops the most powerful tribes, and the most inveterate of our enemies, the original instigators and principal actors in those disturbances which entailed such disasters on our troops last winter.

The following are the chiefs who were present in the action:—Uzeez Khan, Gool Mahomed Khan, and Suadat Meen Khan, Jubber Kheil Ghilzies; Khodah Buskh Khan, Azul Khan, and Khojeh Mahomed Shah Khan, chiefs of Tezeen, Babukkur Kheil Ghilzies; Sirdar Kyroolah Khan, Barukzie, Shah Ghazee Khan, Gool Ghilzie, and Hajie Ali Tajick, sent by Mahomed Ukhbar Khan from Cabul to co-operate with the Ghilzies; and Ibrahim Khan, and Mullick Suddoo, Lugman chiefs. The petty chiefs of Hissaruck were also engaged; and indeed the whole strength of the Ghilzie force may be considered to have been brought against us, numbering on this occasion from four to five thousand men.

Let me now express how much I owe to the brave officers and soldiers who have thus gallantly asserted their superiority in arms; were I to name all who merit eulogy, I should feel obliged to enumerate every officer who was present.

I feel considerable diffidence in mentioning the name of Major-General Sir R. Sale, G.C.B., whose heroic conduct in the field stands so little in need of my commendation. On this occasion I was an eye witness to the personal intrepidity of this highly distinguished officer, as he led up the heights in advance of his own regiment under a very hot fire.

To the officers in command of regiments, and detachments, and to the heads of departments, also to the officers of my personal and the general staff, I feel especially indebted for the zealous and efficient manner in which they performed their respective duties; and I trust His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief will bring to the notice of his Lordship the Governor-General, that every individual engaged has exerted himself to the utmost to serve his country.

I have the honour to enclose a rough sketch of the scene of operations and a return of killed and wounded.

I have, &c.
GEORGE POLLOCK, Major General,
Commanding in Affghanistan.
(True Copy.)
G. PONSONBY, Captain,
Assistant Adjutant General.

From Major General Nott, Commanding Field Force, Affghanistan, to T. H. Maddock, Esq., Secretary to the Government of India, with the Governor General.

Head Quarters, dated camp Gonine, 31 miles S.W. of Chuznee, August 31, 1842.

Sir,—I have the honour to acquaint you, for the information of the Right Honorable the Governor General of India, that Shumshoodeen, the Affghan Governor of the fortress of Ghuznee, brought nearly the whole of his army, about 12,000 men, into the vicinity of my camp yesterday at three o'clock, p.m.

I moved out with one half of my force, the enemy advanced in the most bold and gallant manner, each cheering as they came into position, their left being upon a hill of some elevation, their centre and right along a low ridge, until their flank rested on a fort filled with men, they opened a fire of small arms, supported by two six pounder horse artillery guns, which were admirably served; our columns advanced upon the different points with great regularity and steadiness, and after a short and spirited contest, completely defeated the enemy, capturing their guns, tents, ammunition, &c., &c., and dispersing them in every direction. One hour's more day-light would have enabled me to destroy the whole of their infantry.

Shumshoodeen fled in the direction of Ghuznee, accompanied by about thirty horsemen.

I enclose a list of killed and wounded on the 28th and 30th instant, also a return of ordnance, ammunition, &c., &c., taken from the enemy.

The behaviour of the troops, both European and native, was such as I anticipated, and afforded me complete satisfaction.

I beg leave to bring to the favourable notice of the Right Honorable the Governor General of India the undermentioned officers; many of them have served under my command for the last three years, and have been conspicuous for their zeal and gallantry in the various affairs which have occurred with the enemy, during that period, and especially in the action of the 12th of January last, and have invariably upheld the reputation of our arms and the honour of our country.

Brigadier Wymer, commanding the 1st infantry brigade, Lieutenant-Colonel M'Laren, commanding 16th regiment native infantry, Major Hibbert, commanding Her Majesty's 40th regiment, Captain Burney, commanding 38th regiment native infantry, Captains Christie and Haldane, commanding corps of Bengal irregular cavalry, Major Sotheby, commanding the artillery, Captain Blood, commanding Bombay foot artillery, Major Saunders, Bengal engineers, Lieutenants North and Studdert, Bombay engineers. Majors Leech and Rawlinson, of the political department, attended me in the field, and rendered me great assistance in conveying my orders.

My best thanks are due to my Staff, Captain Polwhele, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General; Captain Waterfield, Aide-de-Camp; Lieutenant Tytler, Deputy Quarter-master General.

Annexed is a letter from Brigadier Wymer, speaking in the highest terms of his Brigade Major, Captain T. H. Scott, of the 38th Regiment native infantry. I fully appreciate this excellent officer's merits, he has been with me in four actions; I trust I shall not be thought presumptuous in expressing a hope that he will receive some mark of the favour of Government by Brevet or otherwise.

I cannot close this despatch without expressing my admiration of the dashing and gallant conduct, rapid movement, and correct practice of Captain Anderson's troop of ... horse artillery, nothing could exceed it, and I beg leave to bring this officer and Lieutenant Turner, attached to the same troop, to the particular notice of His Lordship, as officers who have, on many occasions, rendered most essential service.

I have, &c.,
W. NOTT, Major General,
Commanding field force, Affghanistan.

From Brigadier G. P. Wymer, commanding 1st Infantry Brigade, to Major General Nott, commanding Field Force.

Dated Camp Chappukhana, September 1, 1842.

Sir,—Adverting to division orders of yesterday, expressive of your praise, and thanks to the troops employed under your command in action with the enemy, on the afternoon of the 30th instant, I hope you will not consider it ill-judged on my part, bringing to your favourable notice the valuable assistance I derived from the active services of Captain Scott, Major of Brigade to the 1st Infantry Brigade under my command, whose exertions during the fight on that day, demand and merit my best praise and acknowledgments. This being the second time of the display of Captain Scott's abilities, when in action with the enemy, as my personal Staff, will, I hope plead my apology for recommending him to your notice and the favourable consideration of government, in any way you may have it in your power to mention him as a meritorious and deserving officer.

I have, &c.,
W. G. P. WYMER, Brigadier.

Copy of a letter from Major General Nott, to Major General Pollock, C. B., commanding in Affghanistan.

Camp Nanee, 3rd Sept., 1842.

My dear General,—I have been favoured with your letter of the 23rd ultimo. We were engaged with the enemy on the 27th near Mukoor. On the 30th, Shumshoodeen, Governor of Ghuznee, came into the vicinity of our camp with his whole army. I moved out with about one-third of my force, the enemy came on boldly enough, but we soon entirely defeated them, taking the two field guns they brought with them from Ghuznee, and the whole of their ammunition, tents, &c., &c.

Our Sepoys behaved with much steadiness and gallantry.

Yours sincerely,
W. NOTT.

MEMORANDUM.—Lieutenant Colonel J. Low, C. B. having intimated to the Governor General his wish to resign the appointment of Resident at the Court of Lucknow, from the 30th November next, with the view of proceeding to Calcutta, and thence to England, His Lordship is pleased to accept Lieutenant Low's resignation, from the day so named.

ENGLISH EXTRACTS.

CONSECRATION OF THE COLONIAL BISHOPS.

(From the Standard, August 24.)

THE impressive and solemn ceremony of consecrating the five newly appointed Colonial Bishops took place this morning in Westminster Abbey.

The doors of this magnificent and sacred edifice were opened for those who had obtained tickets of admission, at ten o'clock, and no one was allowed to pass after half-past ten o'clock, at which moment all the entrances to the Abbey were locked.

Precisely at eleven o'clock, the Bishops of London, Winchester, Rochester, and Chichester, entered the choir at the west door, and proceeded to the altar.

The right rev. prelates were followed by Dr. Coleridge, late Bishop of Barbadoes, and the newly-appointed bishops, viz., Archdeacon Parry, Bishop of Barbadoes; Archdeacon Austen, Bishop of Guiana; Dr. Davies, Bishop of Antigua; Dr. Tomlinson, Bishop of Malta and Gibraltar; and Dr. Nixson, Bishop of Van Diemen's Land.

The Queen's Advocate (Sir John Dodson) was in attendance, attired in his scarlet robes of office. The learned gentleman took his seat on the left of the new bishops.

The right reverend bishops and the other dignitaries of the Church having taken the respective seats appropriated to them, the morning service of the Church commenced. The prayers were read by the Rev. Mr. Lupton, and the lessons of the day by the Rev. Mr. Waters. The Communion Service by the Bishop of London.

The following is the order and programme of this interesting and important ceremony, for which we are indebted to the courtesy of Dr. Webber, Dean of Ripon:—

The Chapter of Westminster received the newly appointed bishops in the Jerusalem Chamber.

The Archbishop of Canterbury being indisposed, a commission empowering the Bishops of London, Winchester, and Rochester, to act for his Grace had been granted, and those right reverend prelates, with the Bishop of Chichester, and the late Bishop of Barbadoes (Dr. Coleridge), assembled shortly after ten o'clock in the Jerusalem Chamber, where they were joined by the newly appointed Colonial Bishops, and afterwards moved in the following order from the chamber into the choir of the Abbey:—

Beadle.
Almsmen.
Choristers.
Gentlemen of the Choir.
Minor Canons.
Receiver of the Chapter of Westminster (Mr. Gell).
Chapter Clerk of the Dean and Chapter of Westminster (Mr. Vincent).
Canons' Verger.
Canons.
Deans' Verger.
Sub-Dean (Lord John Thynne).
The Colonial Bishops.
The late Bishop of Barbadoes.
The Bishop of Chichester.
The commissioners of the Archbishop of Canterbury, viz., the Bishop of Rochester, the Bishop of Winchester, and the Bishop of London with their attendants.

The procession thus formed moved up the centre aisle, and on entering the choir the different members passed into their respective places; the Canons and Sub-Dean of Westminster drawing aside until the bishops had passed them, to take their places within the altar rail of the Sacrarium.

The Canons and Sub-Dean then passed to their accustomed places.

The Morning Service then commenced; at its conclusion, the Sub-Dean and Canons proceeded to their respective places within the altar rail.

The Communion Service then began, which was read by the Bishop of London and the assistant bishop.

The Nicene Creed having been sung, the preacher, Bishop Coleridge, was conducted to the pulpit, when the right rev. prelate delivered a most eloquent and appropriate sermon from Isaiah, ch. xliii., verses 5 and 6:—"Fear not, for I am with thee. I will bring thy seed from the east, and gather thee from the west; I will say to the north, Give up, and to the south, Keep not back; bring my sons from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth."

After the sermon was concluded, the five Colonial Bishops, who, until then, had been seated on the north side of the Sacrarium, opposite the assembled clergy in their robes, were conducted to St. Edward's chapel, when they put on their rochets; and on their return to the choir they placed themselves before the three bishops, the commissioners of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

The Queen's mandate having been read, and the accustomed forms administered, the Consecration Service was performed, the right rev. commissioners being seated in front by the altar.

When this part of the service was concluded, the Colonial Bishops again retired to put on the rest of their robes, and on their return they knelt at the altar, when the Bishop of London began the "Veni Creator," which hymn the choir immediately took up and sung to the conclusion.

The Consecration Service having been concluded, the five Colonial Bishops passed to their places among the other bishops on the south, within the altar rail.

That part of the congregation who did not partake of the Lord's Supper then left the Abbey, and the Communion Service was proceeded with in the usual form and ceremony. A collection was afterwards made, the amount of which the Dean and Chapter of Westminster intend to apply to the uses of the Colonial Fund.

At the conclusion of the Communion Service the Chapter of Westminster conducted the bishops back to the Jerusalem Chamber in the usual forms of precedence.

The sermon occupied nearly an hour in delivery, and during that part in which the Rev. Doctor pointed out the important duties of the ministerial office, the newly created prelates were much affected. The preacher then in forcible and eloquent language impressed on those whom he addressed, the great truth that the universality of the Redeemer's kingdom ought to be the great object of all Christians, particularly Christian ministers.

The following was the order of the music on this interesting occasion:—

Introductory Voluntary—Overture to Esther.
Responses and Chants .... TALLIS.
Te Deum and Jubilate .... NARES.
Veni Creator .... ATTWOOD.
Athanasian Creed .... TALLIS.
Voluntary—Sermon .... SPHOR.
Voluntary after Consecration .... HAYDN.

The ceremony occupied nearly four hours.

A great number of the clergy were in attendance, and several distinguished foreigners, amongst whom we noticed Chevalier Bunsen, the Prussian Ambassador, &c. &c.

HEADS OF THE TREATY BETWEEN ENGLAND AND AMERICA.—The boundary line of Maine meets the Great Falls of the St. John on the north, follows the course of that river north-west to the junction of the Madawska, then comes south-west on the line of the same river to its connection with the St. Francis, where it again starts north-west, and near midway between the high lands and the St. John, again branches to the south west till it reaches the old undisputed line. We have nearly the line marked out by the King of the Netherlands, except a small strip at the base of the north-westernmost high lands, which the British negotiation insisted upon having, to keep us from being too near the St. Lawrence, the territory being good for nothing, and not of the least possible importance to us. For this, and a quiet claim to the north-easternmost angle of Maine (under the line we claim), Rouse's Point, an island in Lake Superior, and some other islands in the lakes, and the right and benefit of the use of the St. John. Whatever lumber or produce (unmanufactured) comes from the St. John, or the tributaries of the St John, is to be subjected to no more duties than provincial lumber or produce in British ports, and is to have the same benefits and privileges. There is, we suspect, something left indefinite as to what shall be deemed the tributaries of the St. John, for it might be a question whether Maine would not be checked in concentrating large amounts of produce upon the St. John. There are now two tributaries of the St. John on which a good deal of lumber business is done—the Aroostook and the Meduxnekeag. The valley of the Aroostook is fertile, and is now undisputedly ours. The French population at Madawska, south of the St. John, is surrendered to us. No American citizens are given up, but all the settled portions of the territory are given to us. Houlton is on the Meduxnekeag, and its lumber will run down the St. John. The port of St. John, being a free port, American vessels can enter there and take lumber to the United States, or lumber brought there can go to British West India Islands or to England in British vessels, having the benefit of the British rate of duties. It will be remembered that a great deal of lumber taken by the squatters on the disputed territory has been held subject to a treaty, or to agreement. This has been sold, and Maine is to have the benefit of the proceeds, if there are any. For the attack and burning of the steam-boat Caroline there is to be, as I believe, an indemnity, if not apology. The case of the Creole has created a good deal of discussion. Great Britain will pay nothing for the negroes in the case of the Creole. This is a point settled, and all efforts to unsettle it have been in vain. Great Britain, however, is willing to make arrangements for the future, to provide by treaty for like cases, and so far, we think, a step has been taken. The boundary line agreed upon, runs to the Rocky Mountains, an... ...settled the question of the Orego... There is nothing lost by this, for o... are daily settling this question... stronger there by time, and be... too. The right of search, so ca... has not been touched. It shou... This is a matter we cannot negoc... upon. There is no right of search. The seas are free, and why make terms upon an axiom? We should not be surprised, however, if some arrangements had been entered into for the keeping of an American squadron in the African seas.—New York Express.

MR. SAMUEL DAVIES, elder son of the late James Davies, deceased, and administrator to his estate, begs most respectfully to inform the members of the Subscription Room, from whom his late father received so many acts of support and kindness during his life-time, that he has determined to carry on the business of the Subscription Room in all its departments, as it has existed during the last sixteen years, as well as of the tavern and hotel; and he trusts, with numerous improvements, now in progress of fulfilment, with regard to the quantity, quality, and priority of information from every quarter of the world. To accomplish these objects no pains or expense will be spared; and Mr. Samuel Davies hopes, in consequence, that he will receive from the members of the Subscription Room some portion, at least, of that support which enabled his father to render it the centre of political and commercial intelligence.

Arrangements are in progress, and will speedily be completed, for placing in the hands of the members of the Subscription Room not only the earliest intelligence which may reach, Bristol Liverpool, Falmouth, Portsmouth, Dover &c., but also by Mr. Waghorn's express, whatever can be forwarded by him from Egypt, India, and China, and at the same time as the news are received by the morning and evening newspapers.

It is confidently hoped that attention to the interests and wishes of the manners of the Subscription Room will afford general satisfaction; and Mr. Samuel Davies begs further to state that for the accommodation of those who may honour him with their favours in the tavern and hotel department, or the North and South American Coffee House, he has laid in a complete new stock of the most superb wines, spirits, malt, and other liquors, which it is possible to procure and to which he begs to call their attention.

FASHIONS FOR SEPTEMBER.

THIS month being termed by modistes, la morte saison, there is no particular novelty in articles of toilette; the warmth of the weather, during the last month, has made the demand for light articles of dress very general; embroidered organdys, mousseline gazes, bareges bayaderes, foulards diaphanes, coliennes balsorines of silk, &c., &c. In Paris the court and fashionable world have been in mourning, which principally consisted of barege or Italian taffetas, with pelerine or camail of the same, trimmed with lace, and redingotes of black silk, ornamented with braid, which is much in favour; there are two kinds of braid used—flat and round; the latter is newer and more elegant; it relieves well on dresses of worsted materials; and it is expected that braid will be very generally used in autumnal dresses of cachemere and merino. Sleeves Mazarin, composed entirely of rows of black lace, put on one above the other, from the wrist to the elbow, form one of the accessoires of dress very likely to be continued during the winter, as well as the sleeve Diane de Poitiers, also of black filet Peignoirs of organdy, worked with lilac or blue braid, are novel and pretty; they are with pelerines to correspond, and the skirt closes at the side with silk buttons. Muslin dresses are embroidered on the tucks as well as between them.

Bonnets continue to be worn inclining over the face; those of tulle with wreaths of lilies of the valley, and bouquet of the same flower inside, are among the prettiest.

Camails continue in general favour; are seen in every variety of material; black lace ones have been ornamented with bouillons of black satins, and those formed of rows of white lace have ruches of pink ribbon dividing the lace.

Mantelets Reine de Chypre, manchettes Louis XIV., Mazarin collars, those à la chevalière, canezous, with inlets, embroidery, and small folds, to wear with skirts of silk, and fichus paysannes, are all fashionable. Lace rather increases than diminishes in favour. Camails are preparing for the autumn of gros de Naples and satin, of a new and elegant style; it is thought they will be lined with showy colours; they are to have small square collars, forming only one piece, with the revers of the front decousses en bavaroises; this collar and revers to be ornamented by rich embroidery in Arabic designs; the arm-holes also encircled by embroidery.

Caps without crowns, and those with lappets raised up at the side by a pin of gold or coral head, are fashionable, but that à la Viennoise is most admired for neglige; it is composed of one piece of very clear muslin, with bavolet; the papillons are very narrow, and turned back over the forehead, then enlarging round off very low at the ears, en rosace.

PROFESSOR LIEBIG, OF GIESSEN.—We learn from authority upon which we can rely, that the celebrated chemist, Professor Liebig, will arrive in London in the course of next week: and that he will visit this town in the first week of next month. Liebig may justly be considered the father of organic chemistry. He entered into the study of this difficult science at a time when it consisted of a mere assemblage of empirical facts. His first great endeavours were to improve the facilities for the analysis of organic bodies, and to introduce into it the precision which is necessary in all chemical inquiries. With the aid of the admirable apparatus invented by himself, he laboured for many years in creating the new science, and it is well known how productive has been the field of his labours. His fame as an analyst became so extended, that inhabitants of all nations flocked to his laboratory, and the most distinguished professors of foreign countries did not think it beneath them to be enrolled among his students. Our informant mentioned to us, that on visiting his laboratory some years since, he found distinguished professors from Austria, Russia, France, England, America, and Switzerland. He also saw natives of Mexico, Spain, Hindostan, and various other countries. With so many students ready to follow out his suggestions, he traversed with wonderous rapidity the field of discovery, and has now raised organic chemistry to a proud position in the rank of the exact sciences. A few years only have elapsed since this great philosopher conceived that he might leave, without injury to the progress of science, the details to be worked out by his followers; and he himself set out to seek "pastures new," in the practical application of the principles which he had discovered. His first work on the Application of Chemistry to Agriculture, has indeed been an era in the advancement of that noble science, and has wrought, and is still working, a revolution in its practice. It is well known to the English public, through the translation of Dr. Playfair. His second work is equally wonderful; and will no doubt, cause an equal improvement in physiology and in medicine. The professor has opened a new path of inquiry, alike important to the welfare of the human race, and to the best interests of society. Long may he live to pursue it, despite the sneers of the ignorant and the taunts of the invidious. These works were written at the desire of the British Association, and have been productive of much benefit to the English agriculture and English capital; the object of his visit is to acquire information regarding the state of the agriculture and manufactures of our country.—Manchester Guardian.

A FAIR TEETOTALLER.—There is a married lady residing within twelve miles of Bath, who has adopted the total abstinence principle for several years, and has increased to the astonishing weight of 284 lbs., and yet is still active and energetic in the superintendence of her domestic duties.—Bath Chronicle.

DEATH OF LIEUTENANT-GENERAL LORD VIVIAN, G.C.B AND G.C.H., LATE MASTER-GENERAL OF THE ORDNANCE.—Intelligence was received last night, which caused the deepest regret in the garrison at Woolwich, that Lieutenant-General the Right Honourable Richard Hussey, Lord Vivian, had died in Germany. This brave and gallant officer, on being appointed Master General of the Ordnance, on the 19th of May, 1835, performed the duties of his office with great zeal and ability, and by his urbanity, kindness, and attention to all, was universally looked upon as the officer and soldier's friend. His Lordship continued Master-General until the accession of the present Government to power in Sept., 1841, when he retired, having previously been raised to the peerage by the Government of which he was a member. Lord Vivian was born on the 28th of July, 1775, and entered the army as an ensign on the 31st of July, 1793, promoted to lieutenant, October 20, 1793; captain, May 7, 1794; major, March 9, 1833; lieutenant-colonel, September 28, 1804; colonel, February 20, 1812; major-general, June 4, 1814; and lieutenant-general, July 22, 1830. The Lieutenant-General served in Flanders and Holland under the Duke of York from June in the year 1794 until the return of the army in 1795. He was present in the sortie from Nimeguen, and was left with a picquet of the 28th regiment, in conjunction with other picquets, to hold it after the retreat of the army. He was present in the affair of Geldermalsen, in which his regiment (the 28th) suffered severely, and other skirmishes. His lordship was also present in all the different battles which took place during the expedition to the Helder, excepting in the landing. Commanded the 7th Hussars in the campaign under Sir JOHN MOORE, in 1808 and 1809. Commanded a brigade of cavalry in the Peninsula from September, 1813, until the return of the army, including the battles of Orthes, Nive, and Toulouse. He was severely wounded in carrying the bridge of Croix D'Orade, near Toulouse, and served at the battle of Waterloo. Lord Vivian received a medal and one clasp for Sahagan and Benevente and Orthes. His lordship's death causes a vacancy in the 1st Dragoons, of which regiment he was colonel. —Morning Chronicle, August 25.

DEATH OF LORD EDWARD SOMERSET.—When in our last Gazette we paid a passing tribute to the bravery and distinguished professional merits of the late Lord Vivian, we did not anticipate that a similar task would so soon be imposed on us, by the decease of General Lord Edward Somerset, brother of the Military Secretary to the Commander-in-Chief. Such, however, we regret to say, is the case, his Lordship having died the day before yesterday. Although the state of his health had for some time past been delicate, apprehensions of a serious nature were not entertained until a few days ago, when the symptoms suddenly assumed a character which foreboded a speedy and fatal result. The extent and nature of Lord Edward Somerset's services, must be well known to our military readers. He was a gallant and zealous officer, who fought his country's battles with honour and credit in Holland and France, in the Peninsula and at Waterloo, at which last mentioned memorable struggle he led the Household Brigade of Cavalry. For his gallantry at Talavera, Salamanca, Vittoria, Orthes, and Toulouse, he was presented with a cross and one clasp, in addition to which he was early rewarded with the Star of the Bath, and subsequently promoted to the first class of that distinguished order. His foreign decorations consisted of the Third Class of Maria Theresa of Austria, of the Tower and Sword of Portugal, and of St. Wladimir of Russia. In March, 1836, he was removed from the colonelcy of the Royal Dragoons to his old regiment, the 4th Light Dragoons, which he had commanded in the earlier part of his career in Spain and Portugal. Lord Edward was frequently employed upon the staff. The last appointment which he held was that of Inspector General of Cavalry, which the rules of the service compelled him to relinquish upon his promotion to the rank of Lieutenant-General. His commissions bear date as follows:—Cornet, Feb. 4, 1793; Lieutenant, Dec. 1, 1793; Captain, Aug. 28, 1794; Major, Nov. 21, 1799; Lieutenant-Colonel, Dec. 25, 1800; Colonel, July 25, 1810; Major General, June 4, 1813; Lieutenant-General, May 28, 1825; General, Nov. 23, 1841. His lordship was uncle to the present, and brother of the late, Duke of Beaufort, and was in his 66th year.—United Service Gazette, September 3.

THE "HINDOSTAN" STEAM-SHIP.—This most splendid steam-ship made an experimental trip to Holyhead-bay on Friday last, and performed to admiration. To nautical men, conversant with distances along the coast of North Wales and Anglesea, it will be interesting to know the actual speed accomplished; and when it is stated that the machinery had only been turned round in dock once, and for a few hours prior to this trip to sea, it will require no further comment to prove that the success attained is unprecedented. She left the George's-pier at eight o'clock, a. m. She went into Holyhead-bay and saluted the town, and was again at the George's-pier at 6h. 45m., p.m.; thus accomplishing the entire distance in ten hours and forty-five minutes, although she had an hour's flood against her at sailing, and an hour's ebb when returning to Liverpool. She made the run from the Skerries to the George's-pier in four hours and forty-two minutes; and from Point Lynas to the Floating-light in two hours and forty-nine minutes, the latter a distance of forty-one and a quarter statute miles. Her engines, of eight-feet stroke, made fifteen revolutions per minute. —Liverpool Albion.

INTERESTING PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.—In the town of Zablagen, Wurtemburg, there is a new printing establishment opened, by M. Theodore Helgerad. All the compositors and pressmen are deaf and dumb, to the amount of 196, eleven of whom are women. They have all been educated at his own cost, for the employment in which they are now engaged. The King has conferred upon him a large golden medal for this great reclamation from the social and moral waste.

The Bishop of Jerusalem, Dr. Alexander, who has recently had a severe attack of the fever peculiar to the climate, is now perfectly convalescent, and, under the advice of his lordship's physician, has retired for a short time, with his family, to the Greek convent of the Cross, distant about half an hour's ride from the holy city, for the benefit of change of air.—Cambridge Advertiser.

DREADFUL FIRE.—ST. PETERSBURG, June 23.—On the 21st instant (probably May 21), a dreadful fire destroyed the old salt-works of Novo-Usolsky, in the government of Perm, the property of the Stroganoff family. The conflagration spread to the extent of 2½ versts, and lasted three days. Besides the salt-works, with the immense provisions of all kinds of fuel made for them, from 5,000 to 6,000 inhabited houses connected with the manufactory, a large church, and numerous products of nature, have become the prey of the flames. —Prussian State Gazette. The St. Petersburg Gazette gives the following account of the calamity, under the head of the place itself; but it differs greatly as to the date, even making allowance for the Russian style:—"Perm, May 14, (old style).—In the Solikamkish circle of our government, Novo Usolskian salt-works, the ancient property of the Stroganoff family, experienced a dreadful visitation. On the 9th of May, at 11 in the morning, the house of one of the workmen took fire from some unknown cause. Every measure for extinguishing the fire was instantly employed; but unfortunately it reached a great quantity of hay which had been stored up, and then the flames spread rapidly over the whole quarter; neither human efforts nor resources of skill could set any bounds to the raging element. The conflagration lasted during three days and three nights, and laid a space equal to 2½ versts in ashes. Thus the branch of trade which gave life to the industry of the whole quarter, the numerous seething places built in stone or wood, more than 15 store-houses, containing an immense quantity of salt, about 500,000 fathoms of firewood prepared for the works, the ancient majestic Cathedral, the great edifices built in stone for the five proprietors, for the offices of the managers and clerks, and finally the 5,000 or 6,000 houses, with the property within them, all suffered in the general ruin. The extent of the loss as to value, and even the number of houses that have disappeared, cannot as yet be stated with any certainty. In the neighbouring villages, and in the few houses left standing, the families of about 500 of the labourers in the salt-works are for the present quartered, and provided with necessaries.—Times.

BOZ.—The best article in Tait is a lively and irresistibly comical quiz upon Mr. Dickens's transatlantic tour, entitled "Duggins's Impressions of America." The writer thoroughly understands the American slang, and makes choice use of it in his pictures of the dinners and fêtes given to the immortal "Boz." The subject is fairly open to ridicule; for even the most enthusiastic admirers of Mr. Dickens cannot be insensible to the absurdity of that gentleman's "progress" through America. The vulgarities of the American character were certainly never brought out into such strong relief before; and the adulation heaped upon the author of "Pickwick" was so extravagant and undiscriminating, and so completely out of all keeping with the actual nature of his genius, that one can hardly help suspecting there must have been a little malicious satire mixed up in it. The only individual whose reception in America is said to have equalled that of Mr. Dickens, was the celebrated La Fayette; but Mr. Dickens is not a liberator, neither is he a great patriot, nor a great warrior, nor a great conqueror, nor a great aristocrat, making the first voluntary sacrifices to the advance of public opinion, and lying down his titles and ancestral honours, to take his share of the struggle for liberty in common with the rest of the people. Mr. Dickens is none of these: his vocation is of a more tranquil character, and ought to keep him in a noiseless path of honour and fame, out of the way of tumults and roaring assemblies, fit only for soldiers or parliament men—for actors, and not for thinkers or writers. For these reasons, and not from any inaptitude to do full credit to Mr. Dickens's merits, we have all along held his American ovation to be at total variance with the good taste he has generally displayed in his writing, and to be calculated to lower him in the estimation of the intellectual public in this country, in precisely the same ratio in which it seems to have elevated him in the admiration of the canaille of America. The article which has tempted us into these observations, presents a clever caricature picture of the ridiculous side of the affair.—Atlas.

BILLY BLUE'S.

NORTH SHORE.

MR. STUBBS is instructed to bring to public competition, at the Mart, King-street, THIS DAY, the 4th day of January, 1843, at Twelve o'clock,
All that pretty and eligible site of Land, commanding a great scope of the Harbour, with a most agreeable panoramic view of Sydney, situated in the naturally sheltered inward head of

HULK BAY,

Abutting on the town of ST LEONARD'S, and the public sea-side road, as per reduced sketch, at the Mart.

These allotments are well adapted for

FOUR MARINE VILLAS,

Having corresponding quantities of sixty-six square feet of land each, more or less; and are no less to be admired for their prominent bearing and superior advantages over other adjacent properties, than to be selected for their convenience to the necessary and expensive material—stone—for building purposes, and which is close at hand. Being at the angle of the St. Leonard's Road to the harbour, and the township also, the situation may be regarded as a safe key or scale of value to every man's comprehension.

It is easy to conceive why a property like this which is the nearest to Sydney of others, should be doubly valuable—by the same rule that a house in George-street, of public demand, is of more value than one in the Parramatta-road. You cannot possibly mistake in the purchase

OF THE BUNGAREE FAMILY.

This truly romantic spot is full of deep associations and moral reflections. It will be handed down to posterity as the lasting record of the antiquity, the power, and birthright of the royal BUNGAREE FAMILY, safe under British rule. Hence it will become the historical alpha of curiosity and enquiry to every traveller visiting these shores, as the "great lion of the day;" and the philosopher of that day will no doubt as pliantly soothe his mind in favour of the white man's abstract and title to possessions, varieties, and enjoyments, as we, in our days of civilization, as easily forget the privations and misfortunes of the unfortunate descendants of a once powerful though untutored race!

Terms will be very liberal; small deposit, and good credit. 8696

To Wine Merchants, Publicans, and others.

FOSS AND LLOYD will sell by Auction, at their Rooms, Lower George-street, THIS DAY, the 4th instant, at Twelve o'clock precisely,

IMPORTANT LAND SALE

AT

WHICH MUST EVENTUALLY BE THE PRINCIPAL TOWNSHIP IN THE COWPASTURE DISTRICT.

MR. BECK takes the earliest opportunity of informing the public generally, but more especially those who are looking out for a snug little piece of land, on which to build a snug little house, that they may call their home, that he has been instructed by the proprietor, to sell by auction, on the ground, facing the Narellan Church, on the 26th day of January next, (being the anniversary of the foundation of the Colony), at One o'clock precisely,

THE FOLLOWING DESIRABLE PROPERTIES.

LOT I.

Four acres of Land on the Great Southern Road, in the heart of the Cowpasture district, adjoining the township of Narellan, on which is erected a neat cottage residence, with six rooms, together with a detached kitchen, store-room, and stables, admirably adapted for a retired country gentleman or family, or for a smart young bachelor; at present rented to a most respectable tenant.

LOTS II. to X., (inclusive),

Are capital Building Allotments, containing half an acre each, with frontages of twenty-two yards each to the eastern side of the Great South Road.

LOTS XI. to XXVIII., (inclusive),

Contain half an acre each, and twenty-two yards frontage to the western side of the same road, and adjoin the Government township of Narellan.

The auctioneer before closing this advertisement, feels that he should not do justice either to the public or his employer, if he did not point out some of the advantages of this valuable property, which he will do in a few words.

The Township of Narrellan is the only one laid out by Government for the Districts of Bringelly, Cobitty, and Upper Minto; and the allotments of land so near the township become doubly valuable, from the circumstance of those in the township being reserved for the Market Place, Court House, Goal, &c. The never-failing Cowpasture River will supply water in the driest seasons, and wood may be obtained in abundance in the neighbourhood; added to which, the possession of a portion of this otherwise desirable property, will confer upon the fortunate purchaser the power of voting for a member of the new Legislative Council.

TERMS.—Ten per cent. on the fall of the hammer; the residue in approved endorsed bills at twelve months, without interest.

N. B.—A tent will be erected on the ground, and refreshments on a liberal scale will be provided.
